

2nd Kivy Contest

Kivy is organizing its second application development contest! We are looking for companies and organizations interested in becoming sponsors for the event. This is a unique branding opportunity that can be mutually beneficial.

About Kivy:

Kivy is an open source Python framework for the rapid development of multi-touch, multi-platform (Android, iOS, Windows, OSX, and Linux) Applications with OpenGL ES 2.0 accelerated graphics for it's UX.

Our Reach and Strength:

With 126+ contributors, the Kivy community continues to grow and offer the world a unique framework using Python, built on top of OpenGL. Kivy has thousands of users combined on our Google Groups (kivy-users, kivy-dev), and sister projects like python-for-android, pyjnius, pyobjus etc.. Kivy's market reach has been steadily growing as can be seen on Google Trends.

To learn more about Kivy, or to get an idea of how apps made using the Kivy framework look and feel, you can take a look at <http://kivy.org>, or <http://wiki.kivy.org>, which includes a list of applications available on various app stores and open source repositories.

We will be organizing the second edition of the “Kivy contest” around the period of April 2014. We are officially looking for sponsors for this event and hope to attract companies like yours. The details of this contest are mentioned below.

Branding:

Becoming a sponsor of the Kivy contest is a great branding opportunity for any organization looking to extend their reach in the python developer community. Sponsorship includes opportunities to display your logos on the prizes, the Kivy contest website, and related materials.

We are also open to your guidance on how we could leverage the contest to include our sponsors and your branding in an appropriate manner. We will be keeping an open dialog with all of our sponsors until the contest is complete.

The First Edition of this contest was a great experience for everyone involved. We have grown by leaps and bounds since then, as has our community. You can look at how the First Contest panned out including our winning entries at <http://kivy.org/#contest2012>
